

Prostate Protector

Contains Soothing Ingredients, Coral Calcium & Antioxidants & Ingredients That Support Prostate, Urinary Tract, Bladder & Hormonal Health

Prostate Protector (PP), like all other products created for NEWtritional Health Care, is over 98% absorbed and alkaline forming. While the causes of prostate problems are many, all men with these problems and all men who wish to avoid these problems, need to maintain an alkaline system and avoid acidosis. PP's natural soothing mechanisms support bladder and urinary tract health, hormonal balance, cellular regeneration, overall prostate health and provides autoimmune, antibacterial, antiviral, antifungal, and antioxidant defense.

The prostate, a walnut sized gland that lies below the bladder and surrounds the urethra, secretes an alkaline fluid for lubrication, sperm mobility and to aid in preventing infection. The aging process on of testosterone and increase in dihydrotestosterone (DHT). This change in hormonal balance is associated with prostate enlargement and male pattern baldness. If the prostate becomes enlarged it may restrict urine flow or cause difficulty with erectile function. Urinary restriction may cause frequent trips to the bathroom during sleep hours and reduce the urinary flow and speed. Frequently waking at night cause further disturbance in the body's ability to repair, as body repair occurs primarily during the sleep hours. One of the functions of the prostate is to protect the sperm from toxins, so it is more susceptible to toxic problems itself. By increasing the nutrients required, balancing pH and oxidizing the body we can aid our body in keeping toxic levels down.

Maintaining prostate health is important so that cancer, impotence and fertility issues can be avoided. It is also important to do this so that the body can maintain good urinary flow and comfort. The ingredients found in PP will help the body keep the appropriate systems alkalized and supplied with nutrients for rebuilding. Additionally, the ingredients boost the body's ability to repair damage that may have been caused by lifestyle or aging processes.

Some of the factors that effect prostate health include (but are certainly not limited to): acidosis; xenoestrogens; stress; cigarette smoking; illegal and prescription drugs; improper diet; lack of high alkaline pH spring water; lack of minerals and other nutrients; urethral stricture; cancer; benign prostatic hyperplasia; glandular damage; high alcohol use; yeast infestation; bacterial or viral infection; autoimmune response; prostate stones; uric acid disorder; allergy to food; diabetes, obesity, arteriosclerosis, atherosclerosis, and hypertension that results from these; lack of exercise and poor eating habits; toxic poisoning from chemicals, pollution and from daily contact with common items such as paper and plastic; and improper clothing (tight fitting underwear or jeans). A recent study has recently connected prostate cancer with diets high in saturated fats. We also know that when Asians come to America their risk of cancer is increased. While the cause has not been defined, we can surmise that factors, such as diet high in fats, artificial ingredients and sugars; pollution of water and air; and stress could well be factors that are contributory and maybe causative.

Unlike other formulations, ours takes into consideration most of the above factors, including dietary. We strongly recommend that you eat a balanced diet that includes high pH water, restrict alcohol, eliminate colas and reduce carbonated beverage intake, begin an exercise program, wear proper attire and eliminate all drugs that you can. We also recommend that you take MSM (caps or powder) and Ultimate V-M daily.

This formula does not address Prostatitis caused by allergy to food. We have also specifically not included L-Arginine due to the incidence of Herpes virus in the American population. Additionally, if you have other degenerative conditions such as cancer, stones, diabetes, obesity, arteriosclerosis, atherosclerosis, and hypertension you should consider taking additional formulations in conjunction with PP.

Magnesium chloride will aid in the breakdown of stones. For all of these conditions drink lots of high pH water. PH Plus is available to increase the pH and spring water is recommended. Drinking lots of high pH water is important to aid in the flushing of toxins from the body and increasing alkalinity and oxygen. While this formulation has ingredients that help cleanse, there is a cleansing effect from high pH water that you can only gain from the flushing action.

Dr. Otto Warburg has won two Nobel prizes for his work that proved that cancer can only exist in a body low in oxygen, which is in an acidic state. Naturopathic physicians have identified over 150 diseases that exist in the bodies of those who have low pH systems. This means that to stabilize the blood they dump alkaline minerals into the blood stream to stay alive, robbing the body of those healthful and beneficial alkaline minerals. It is important for us to stay healthy and to keep our pH in the blood stream balanced without robbing our body of alkaline minerals. If the body is full of acid toxic waste, fatty acid deposits, low in pH throughout our systems, then we begin to experience the degenerative diseases and we lack sufficient oxygen for good health. All men concerned with cancer, degenerative disease and prostate problems should be alkalizing.
